Off the Radar

Hamas' Incommunicado Detention of Gilad Shalit

➡ Gilad Shalit was kidnapped and has been held without Red Cross access for over three years. But Shalit is off HRW's ideological map. Instead, HRW prefers to focus on issues that can be manipulated to condemn Israel.

➡ HRW excludes video, photographic, and other evidence of Hamas' systematic use of Gaza's civilian population as human shields.

Hezbollah's Indiscriminate Attacks Against Civilians in Israel

HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH

During the 2006 Lebanon War, HRW accused Israel of "consistently failing to distinguish between combatants and civilians", but minimized Hezbollah rockets that deliberately targeted Israeli civilians.

HRW condemned Israel for its use of permissible munitions in Lebanon. Yet it was silent about Iran's role in illegally supplying weapons to Hezbollah.

HUMAN RIGHTS WATCH

Razing Rafah (2004) alleged that Israeli responses to terror attacks were "a pretext to punish Rafah as a whole and undermine support for the resistance." This tendentious report was a pretext for HRW involvement in the "boycott Caterpillar" campaign.
